

23 Montezuma Audubon Center Savannah, NY

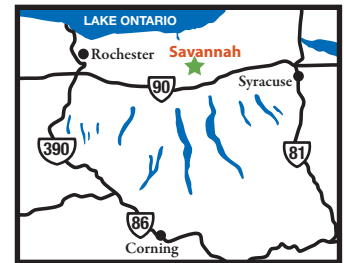

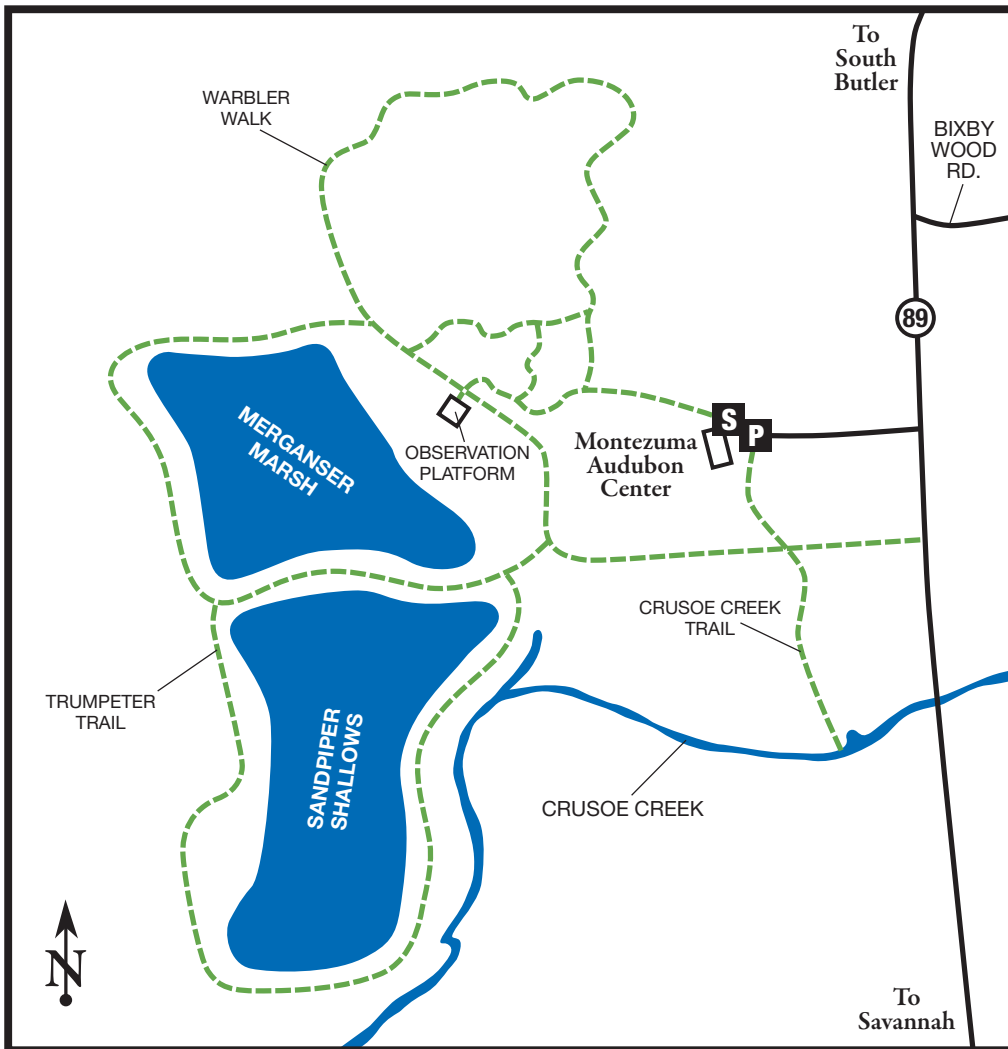

Distance 2 miles

Difficulty ★ ☆ ☆

The Center's trails are available dawn to dusk for hiking, running, birding, snowshoeing and cross country skiing. Trails wind through 450 acres of managed marshes, grasslands, upland and wet woods, pond and creek habitats. The Warbler Walk's stone dust trail begins at the Center and passes by an observation platform that overlooks a restored marsh where you can often see raptors such as Red-tailed Hawks and Osprey, Red-winged Blackbirds and Swallows. The Trumpeter Trail is a mowed grass trail that takes the hiker around the marshes where one is likely to see or hear secretive marsh birds as well as migrating shore birds in early July and late August.
